

A detailed look at the creation of El Granada
a little known, but fully realized design by Daniel H. Burnham.

"There has long been in my mind a dream of a water-side improvement ... Nowhere on earth is the ocean availed of by men as it should be. Perhaps we can set the pace and inoculate the men of the Pacific coast with the right ideas."

"I will ... leave as much space as possible for the proper development of the future resort."

Daniel H. Burnham, quoted in Granada, a Synonym for Paradise
